Beyond the sheltered mountains of the Wasatch Front, opportunity knocked for Timpview students willing to answer. Israel opened new vistas as Chris Herrod spent a semester abroad. Sara Midgely's homemaking talents won her entrance to Japan to study their culture. Closing the door on an exciting school year in New Zealand, Mary Wadham proved that Timpview students were not sitting back to watch the sunset, but looking past the shadowed valley of Utah Lake to their future.

s the individual grows, so do his challenges." —Bill Winder

LOOK TO N

NEW HORIZONS...

LAUNCH YOUR OWN

RAINBOW...

Timpview students weren't as easily knocked over their rainbows by tornadoes as Dorothy was, but by their own hard work. Kris Rawle ran thousands of miles before taking sixth at the TAC National Cross Country Championships his junior year, and Jerry Peay spent hours working with his horses that brought him several first place trophies in national competition. Others, like Laura Karren, who made plans to write a history book, set long-range goals. A lot of students have dreams that are as big as the sky. (Hiatt, who had his eye on the 1992 Presidential race)

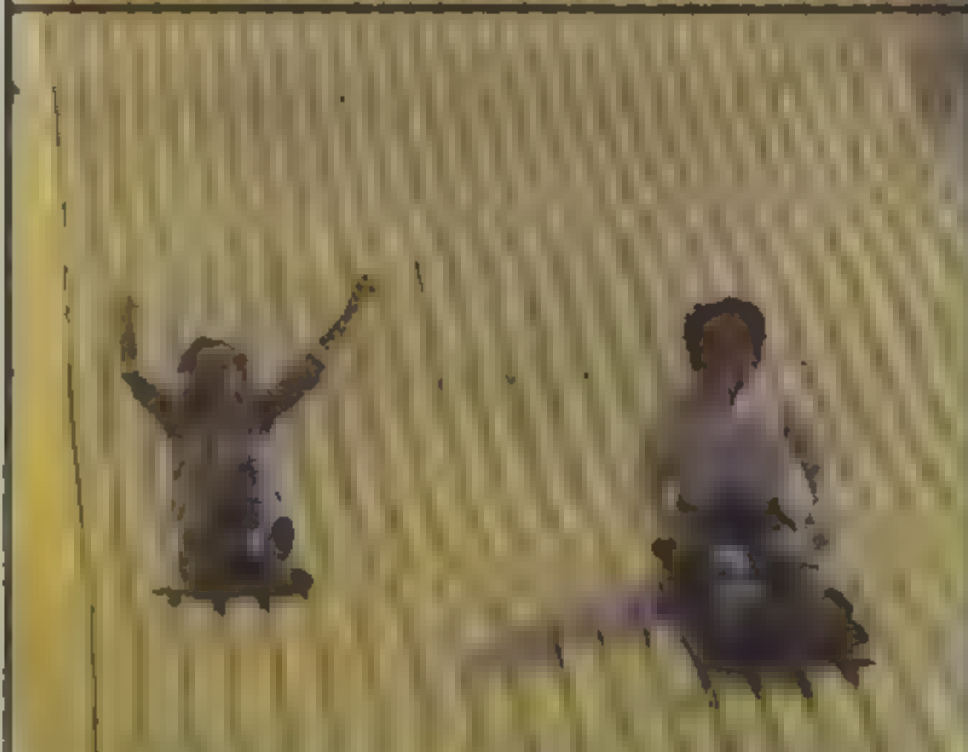

Challenges are a part of life, and without them most people would crumble and die."—Andree Dixon

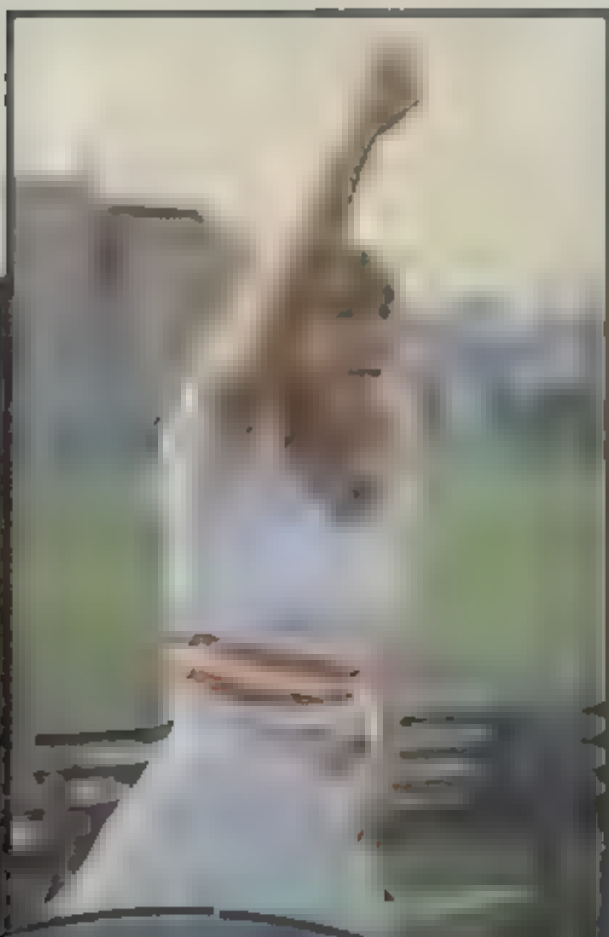

The harder the challenge, the sweeter the success."—Yvette Rodriguez

REACH FOR

As shooting stars stream across the sky, so did Timpview students. Rob Christie was shining on the football field many times. People were heard saying "What was that orange flash?" Kendall Tuckett made her own meteor flight through the air by taking State in the shot put her sophomore year. York Faulkner was seen with a comet of water behind him as he waterskied barefoot. In 1983 Timpview students reached for and caught their stars and didn't let them pass.

challenge is something that is set high upon a pedestal, not easily reached, but worth going after. —John Rees

Challenge is something that tests your skill or integrity to the limit." Scott Sorensen

R THE STARS...

SOAR TO THE

Eagles fly high, but the sky is their limit. Unlike birds, Timpview students of 1983 could soar as high as they wanted. Looking up to the mountain peaks, students watched as Nathan Harris looked down while sky diving 5,000 feet above their heads. Timpview students set their own limits and nothing was beyond their grasp—Scott Pierce left opposing linemen grasping as his passes soared high over their heads, and Brad Pearce was top in the national tennis rankings for doubles in his age group.

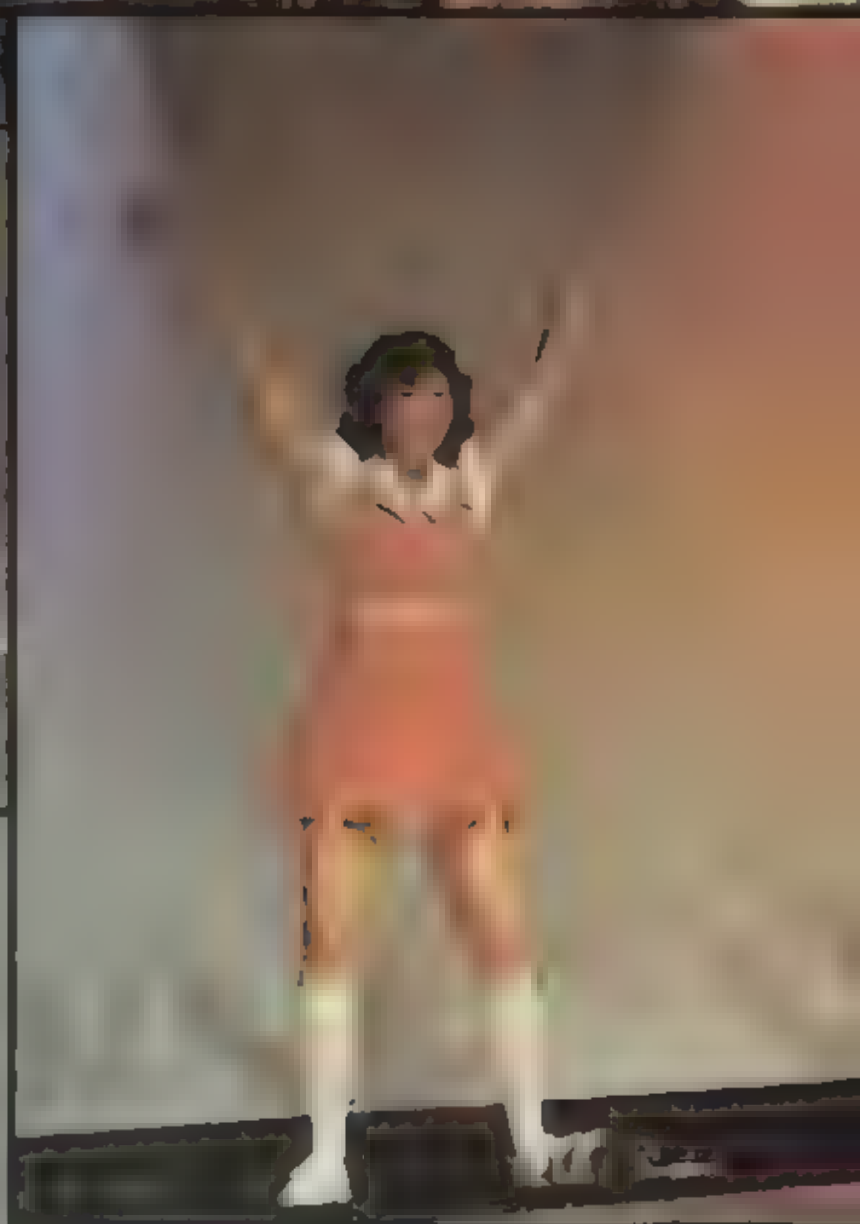

challenge is a task that pushes you to your upmost ability. —Cheryl Barnett challenge is a five-mile run and a picnic, the watching TV and eating ice cream."

—Rick Skousen

TOP...

Knights of old built castles, conquered fortresses, and slew dragons. The down-to-earth knights of the 1980's were no less noble than those imaginary characters in fairy tales. Running ten miles in cross country practice, then returning home for hours of AP homework was as difficult for Tomoo Taguchi as jumping a moat to escape the enemy. For Shon Edwards studying seven foreign languages proved to be more exciting than rescuing maidens in distress.

Slaying a dragon could bring no more satisfaction than Jenny Caneen's "5" on the AP History test, as Timpview's knights fought to build a better kingdom.

challenge is going beyond the best, it is going for the gusto!"

The hi-light of the evening seemed to be Preacher John's marriage ceremonies, finished off with a candy kiss.

The 1982-83 school year was full of challenges relating to a changing world. Apple Computer became a household phrase as students increased their academic loads to keep up with the knowledge needed for technological advancement. Argyle socks reappeared on the fashion scene, and alligators continued to be a part of many T-Birds' wardrobes although resistance to the preppie movement increased in popularity. Students struggled to obtain excellence in every area from artistic abilities to the ACT test.

THE CONTOUR

SOPHOMORE FOOTBALL

After watching the sophomore football team play an excellent season, Timpview students saw a glimpse of the victories in store for the Thunderbirds in the years to come. The underclassmen managed to stay on top by winning most of their games. Timpview's coaching staff is optimistic about the potential of the sophomores (especially if the shorter ones grow a little taller than their current heights)

MAT WENT TWO HARD

*GIRLS

Despite rumors that Cross-Country was only a social organization, the girls actually participated in three-mile races. The runners captured several trophies and took fifth at state, where the competition was tougher than ever before. Heidi Hughes made the All-State team by placing sixth, while Lisa Rowberry finished eleventh, and Shannan Tingey came in sixteenth. Although the season was full of hard interval workouts, hundreds of hard miles, and even tears, the girls agreed that running was worth the pain.

The girls' tennis team only lost one dual meet and brought home the region championship to add to the trophy case. The hard work in Region paid off with a fourth place in state. Michelle Bateman was the only new member added to the team. Playing first and second singles were seniors, Marci Vitale and Chris Stratton, while Michelle Bateman played third singles. The double teams consisted of Debbie Barley, Carlene Christensen, Kendall Tuckett, and Dana Mathie. Also contributing to the cause were Allyson Denning, Ladonn Robins, Heidi Heniger, Claudia Bayola, Susan Wrigley and Susan Davis

The T-Bird matmen placed high in several tournaments as they wrestled their way to victory. With team captains Reed Nuttall and Shaun Rasmussen, the Timpview wrestlers ran stairs, lifted weights, and survived grueling work-outs in preparation for competition. In his second year with wrestling, Coach Sorensen pushed his men to a winning season.

The challenge for divers is to get the right mental attitude. Attitude carries them through tough meets. Lack of confidence is the real killer. — Coach Bugg

My biggest challenge in swimming was getting up at 5:00 in the morning to go to work. Dave Rencher

The view of state performers carried on the Thunderbird tradition with strong performances in the freestyle and backstroke. Steve Clark and Dave Rencher were the top S-A swimmers in the state in their events. The T-bird divers also showed strong in competition. Trained by coach Tom Bugg, the divers increased their performance potential. The boys' main challenge was preparing to compete well at the state meet.

As the reigning state champions, the lady Thunderbird swimmers had their work cut out for them. Swimming an average of 3000 yards each day, the girls worked out from 7-8 a.m. every morning. At the beginning of the year, the team worked on strokes, dives, turns, and endurance. A month and a half before state, the girls increased their yardage, then tapered off to easier workouts. Although the T-birds competed in four events (butterfly, breaststroke, freestyle, and backstroke), they were best in freestyle and butterfly competition. The strongest girls were Jan Mortensen in the 50 and 100 freestyle, Collette Williams in the 100 freestyle, Caroline Christy in the 100 breast stroke and 50 freestyle, Carolyn Crawley in the 500 freestyle and 200 individual medley, and Christine Campbell in the 100 fly. The swimmers were better than ever, ready to take on the challenge of defending their state title.

The cheerleaders worked hard and did a great job. They met their challenges by keeping Timeview Thunderbird spirit soaring.

Timpview's young journalists spent the major part of the year wondering why they ever got involved in writing ("Why can't we tell the truth even when it hurts?"). The Thunderbolt staff succeeded in making improvements on the previous year's paper—Mrs. Blakesley censored Bruce Pritchett! Occasionally, the staff pretended to be students and actually did homework Mrs. Blakesley attempted to give the group some order, while several of the writers plotted to slip sneaky articles past the watchful eyes of the Administration (and Mrs. B.). The principle challenge of the Thunderbolt staff was to publish a legitimate newspaper students enjoyed reading.

Under the direction of Mr. Billings, Timpview's bands practiced throughout the year to perfect their performance for Region competition. During the summer and most of the school year, Provo residents could hear the marching band in session. The musicians prepared themselves for several local parades by marching up and down Timpview Drive. Meanwhile, the symphonic band performed at elementary schools as well as in concert at Timpview. INDUSTRIAL ART

Andy Riggs was busy as a woodchuck

The industrial arts classes were grateful for a new extension on the building that gave Timpview students a better opportunity to learn to work with the tools of their future trades. During the 1982-83 school year, the industrial arts classes began working on a project to promote safety. Metal shop class members learned to use welders and made swings and trailers, as those in woods were busy creating cabinets, chests, and waterbed frames. Meanwhile, the auto shop students became experienced grease monkeys and the drafting classes learned the fundamentals of architecture. The house construction group faced the biggest challenge in the department as they had on-the-job training pouring foundations, pounding nails, and putting the finishing touches on a house that would eventually go up for sale.

Meanwhile, the shorthand and accounting students received some advanced-level business knowledge. Work experience T-birds got their training first-hand, as they fried burgers, pumped gas, and ran cash registers

DRAMA

No, not now, I'm busy"

Some of the most interesting and dramatic scenes in the play are those in which the characters are in a state of extreme emotional distress. In these scenes, the characters are often in a state of confusion and despair, and their actions are often driven by a sense of urgency and a desire to escape their current situation. The play is a powerful exploration of the human condition, and it is a testament to the power of drama to move and inspire its audience.

FACULTY

Hey, Bobby!

Raising staff spirit was one of the goals on the list of this years faculty. They accomplished this by having contests such as the jelly bean count won by Miss Drummond. Adding to these contests were the many parties which helped the faculty become better acquainted. They could be seen at all the activities helping make them run smoother and showing their dedication to the students at Timpview

The District Board of Education has approved a plan to upgrade academic standards, strengthening graduation requirements, and increasing the number of periods (6 to 7 or 8) for the 1982-83 school year. Superintendent Robert Porter, District Board President, said that the 1982-83 school year included restructuring the curriculum and implementing new programs. The District Board of Education is working to increase teaching knowledge and skills of District students. Porter said that the District Board of Education is working to increase the quality of education.

FACULTY

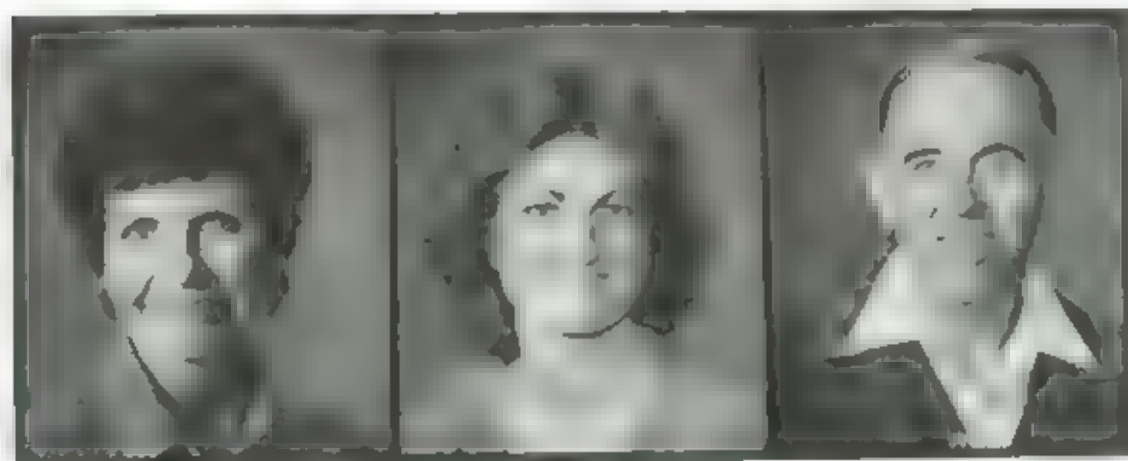

Timpview's history of academic excellence continued to shine through the 1983 school year. Behind the winning Sterling Scholars, National Merit finalists, and exceptionally high ACT scores, the Timpview faculty dedicated themselves to helping their students succeed. Many of the teachers spent hours of their own time correcting term papers, advising extra-curricular activities and coaching athletic teams. Though some students showed little desire to learn, the faculty had a wealth of knowledge ready for those willing to work for a good education.

My challenge is to adequately meet the needs of the many people, (teachers, students, and administration) who depend on me for assistance."—Mrs. Harper Timpview's secretarial staff answered telephones, kept books straight, and did all the busy work necessary to keep the school running smoothly. Mrs. Shurtliff kept track of attendance to prevent lazy-minded T-birds from sluffing class. Meanwhile, Mrs. Harper typed, took care of purchase orders, and other such jobs while serving as secretary for the administration. Mrs. Freeman handled receipts while manning the bookstore.

y biggest challenge is keeping the graffiti off the walls and lockers, and trying to prevent vandalism —Robert Rasmussen

Janitors stayed at school late in the evening just to stay on top of the mess. Students often deposited trash on the Commons floor instead of in the waste-baskets, adding more work for Timpview's custodial staff. The busdrivers also put up with a lot of hassle from spit-ball throwing freshmen, but they managed to still have some fun as they played frisbee while waiting for school to let out.

SENIOR SPIRIT

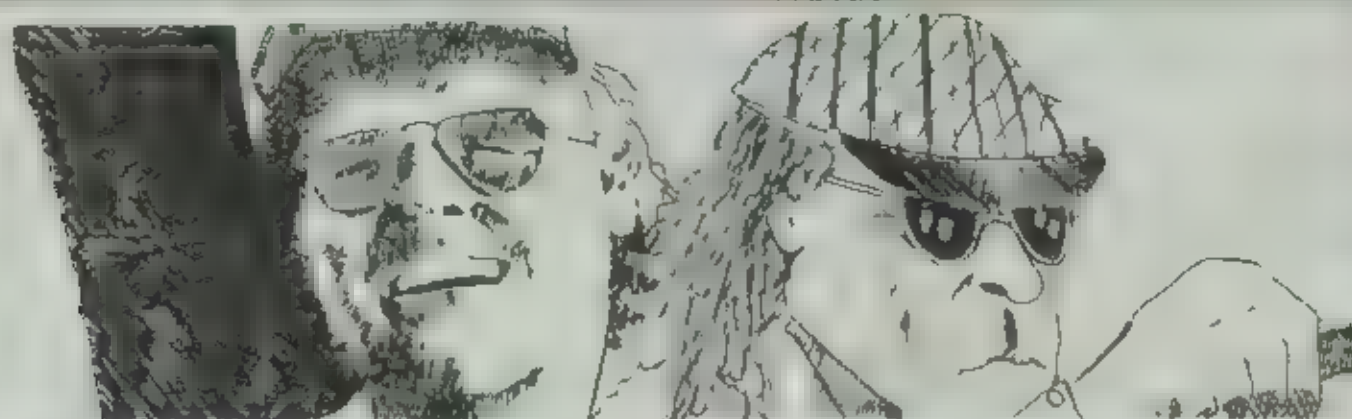

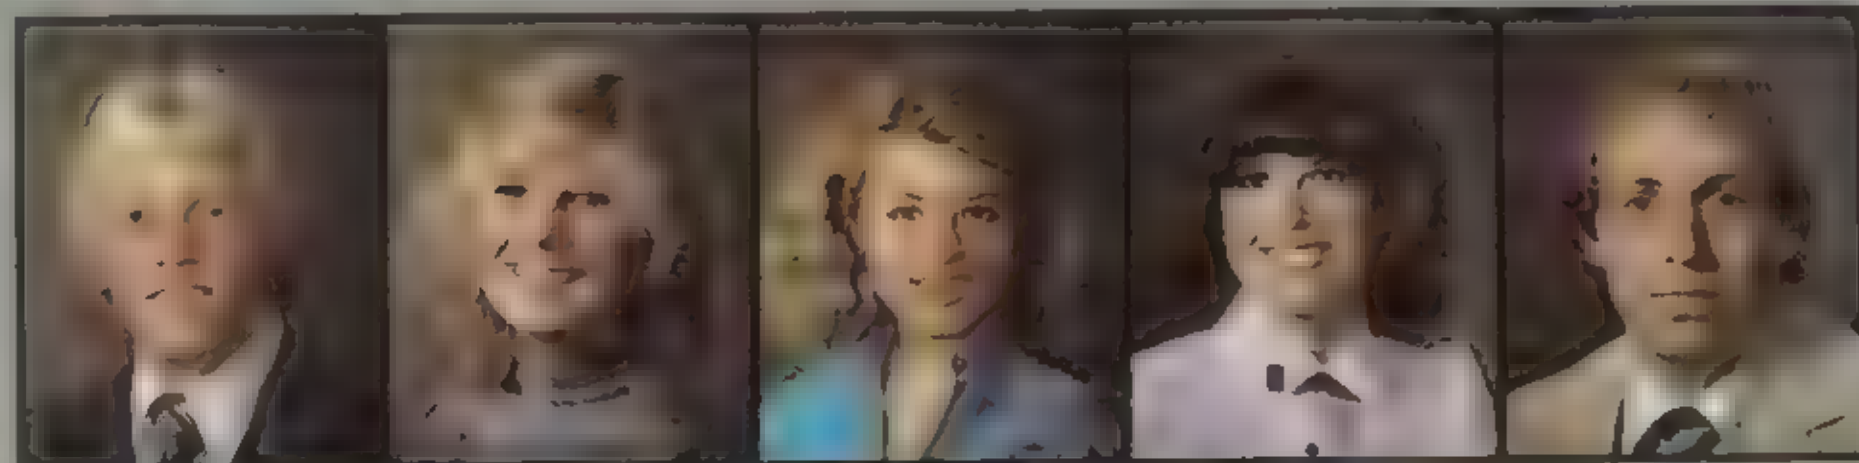

Challenges? I don't really have any because I'm so great." As a law-inspiring Justice, Gary Atkinson added dignity and respect to the Timpview Supreme Court. When he wasn't busy wondering what a justice actually did, Gary's main interests included hunting and girls (girls were the main target of his hunting).

Gone!

My biggest challenge is squeezing everything I want to do into one day without getting more insane than I am "

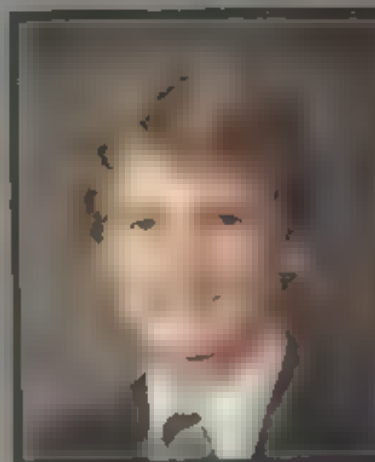

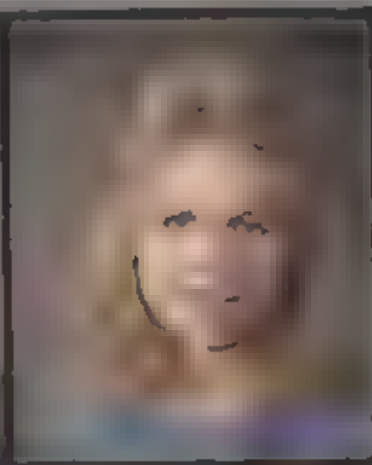

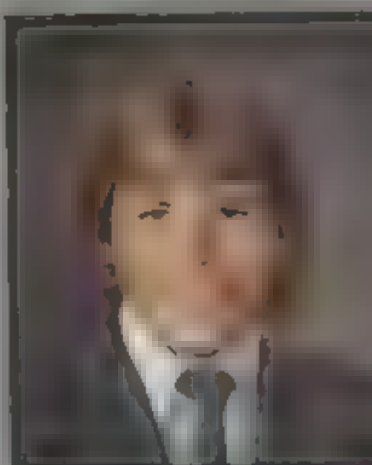

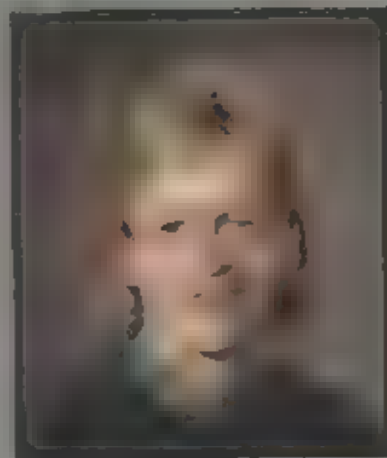

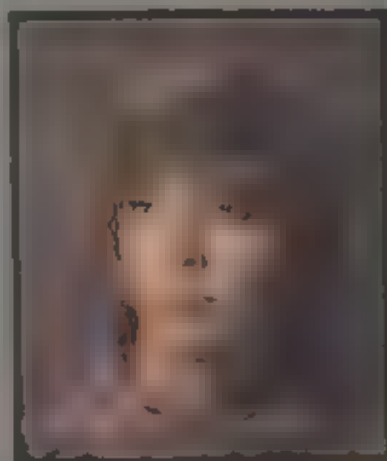

Labeled "Most likely to be assassinated" by the senior boys, Joanne Baird pursued a career of journalistic excellence. Between eating, long distance running, and annoying people, she made plans to be a world famous novelist Challenges are a medium of the mind, only to be reached by one's subconscious. A challenge is not a major hurdle in my quest for perfection. I plan to work for MGM or another major studio by the time this kid is twenty years old."

Between sports, Rodney Frazier was an aspiring script writer. He had been working on one in particular for six years and even consulted two directors in Hollywood about his film. Rodney still had time left over to do some baking—brownies were his specialty.

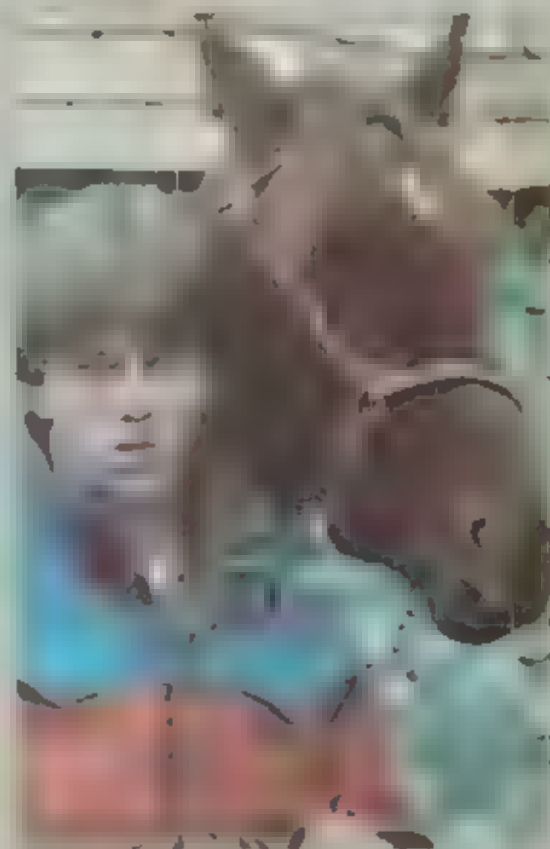

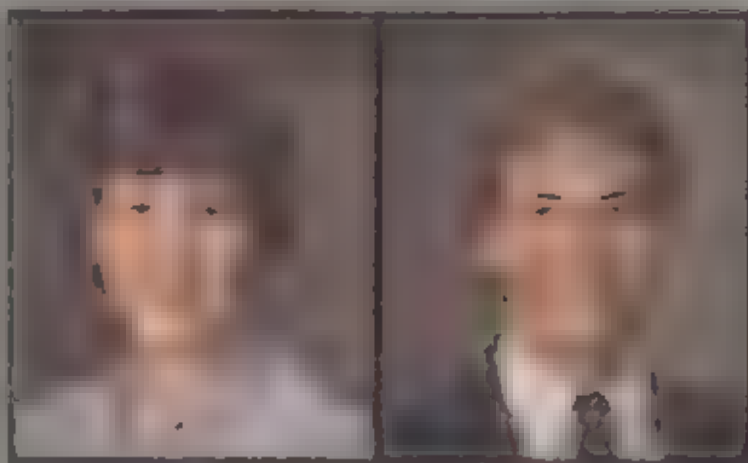

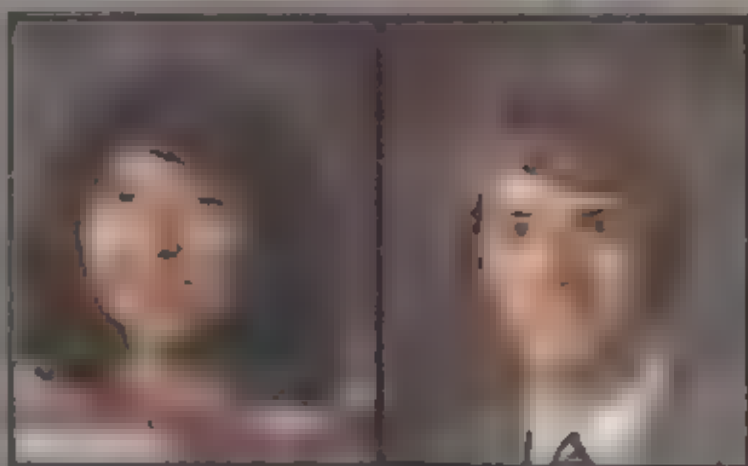

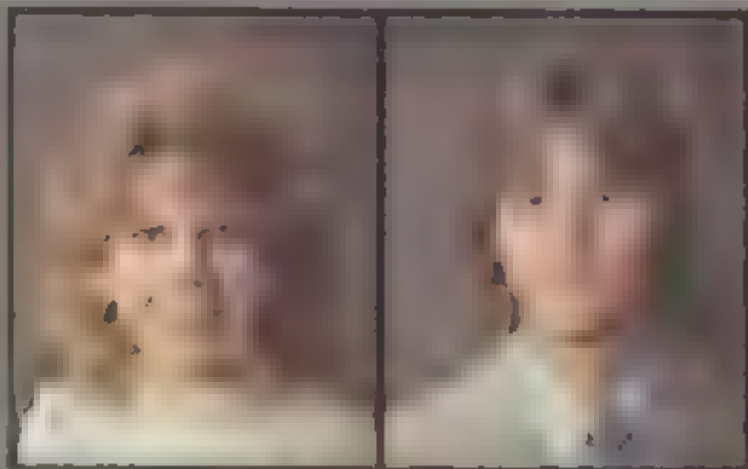

Hy biggest challenge this year is to lead my team to victory. —Heidi Hughes

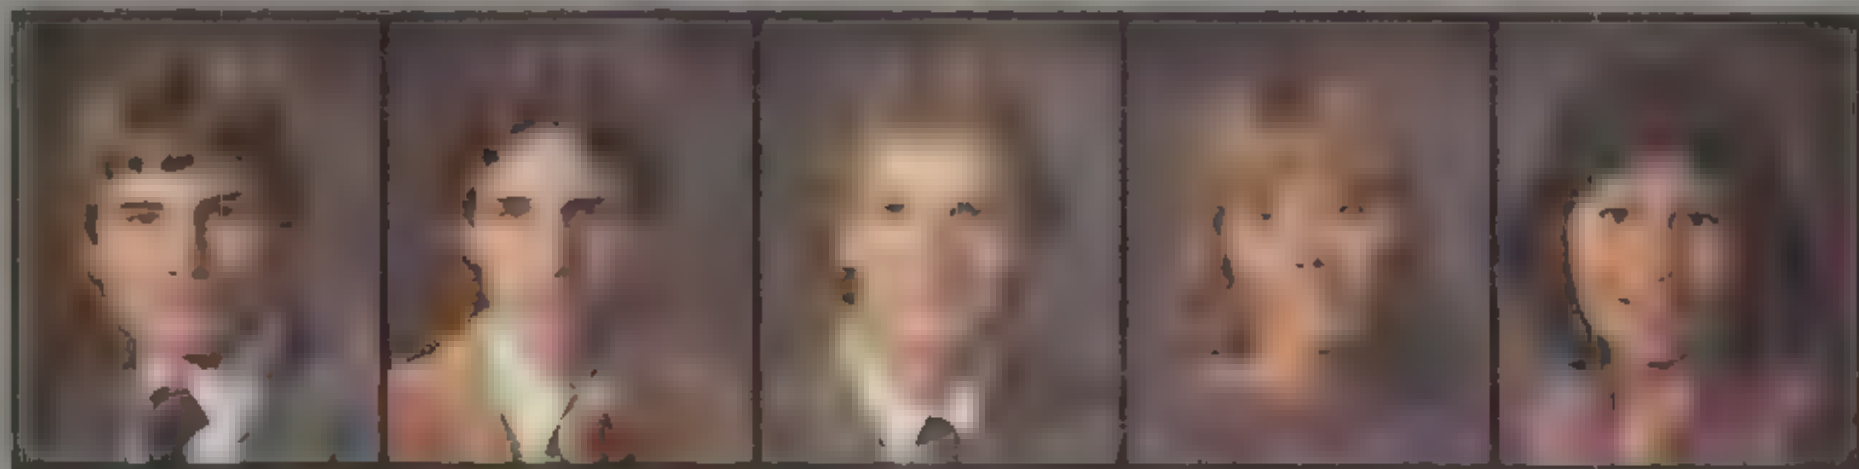

The Competition in the state of Utah is a real challenge. It's at its best." —Kris Rawle

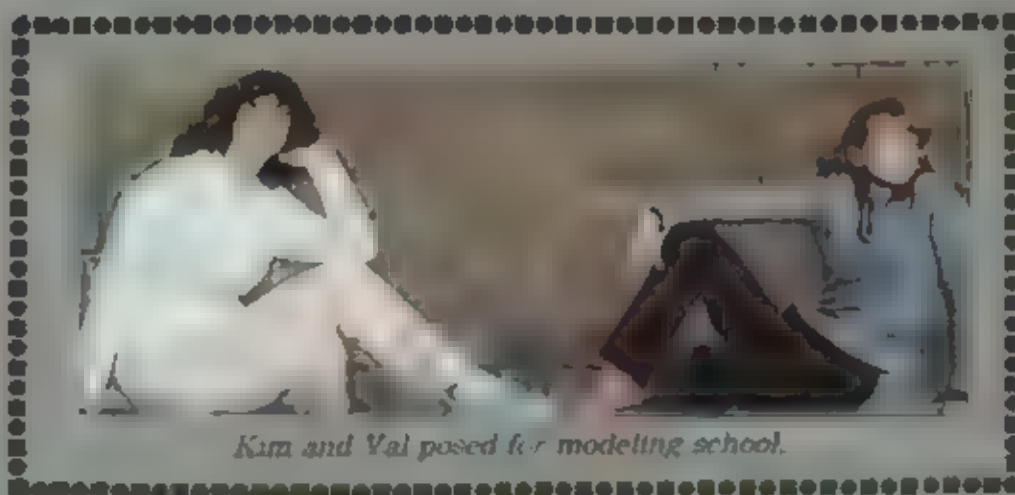

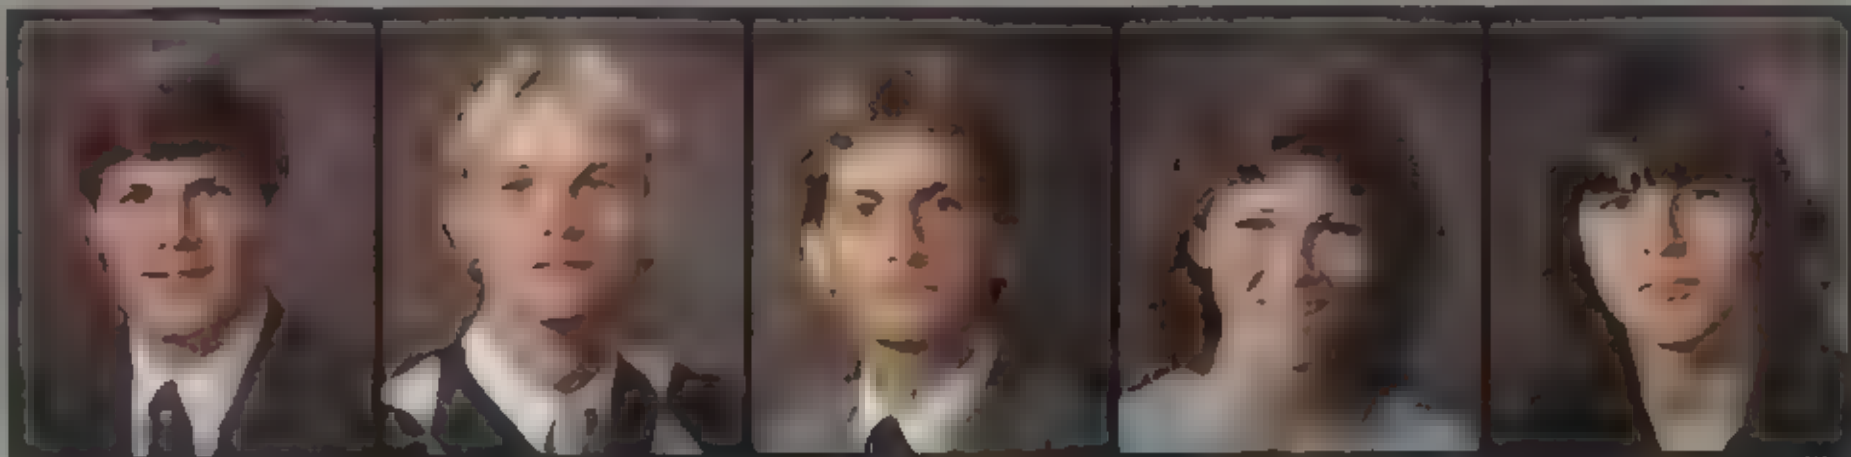

Heidi Hughes and Kris Rawle outdistanced hundreds of runners to gain spots on the Utah National Cross-Country Team. Both students were All-State in track and cross country every high school year.

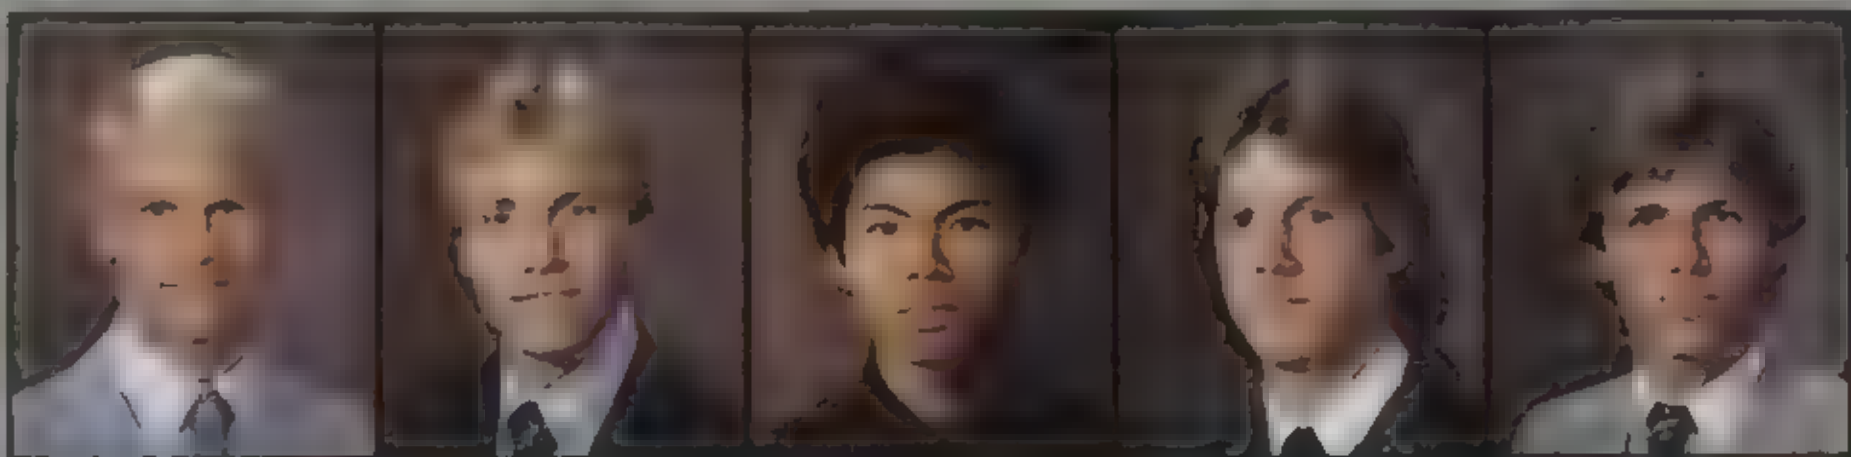

My ultimate challenge is to reach my full potential and to join the elite. I'd like to be a millionaire."

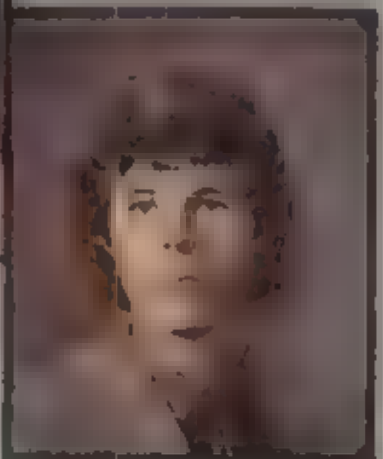

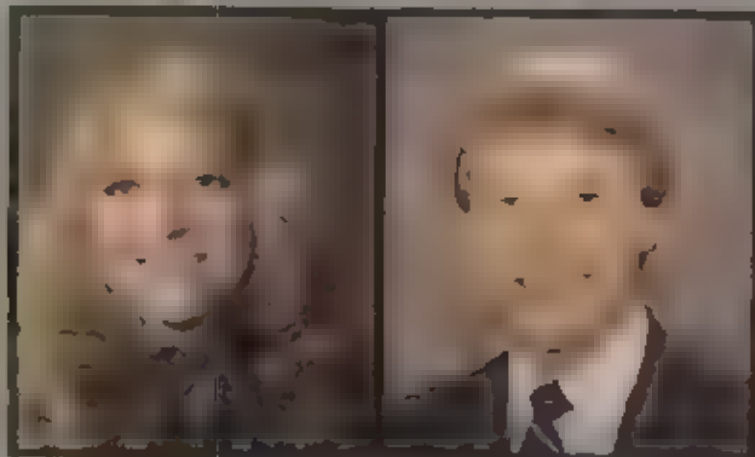

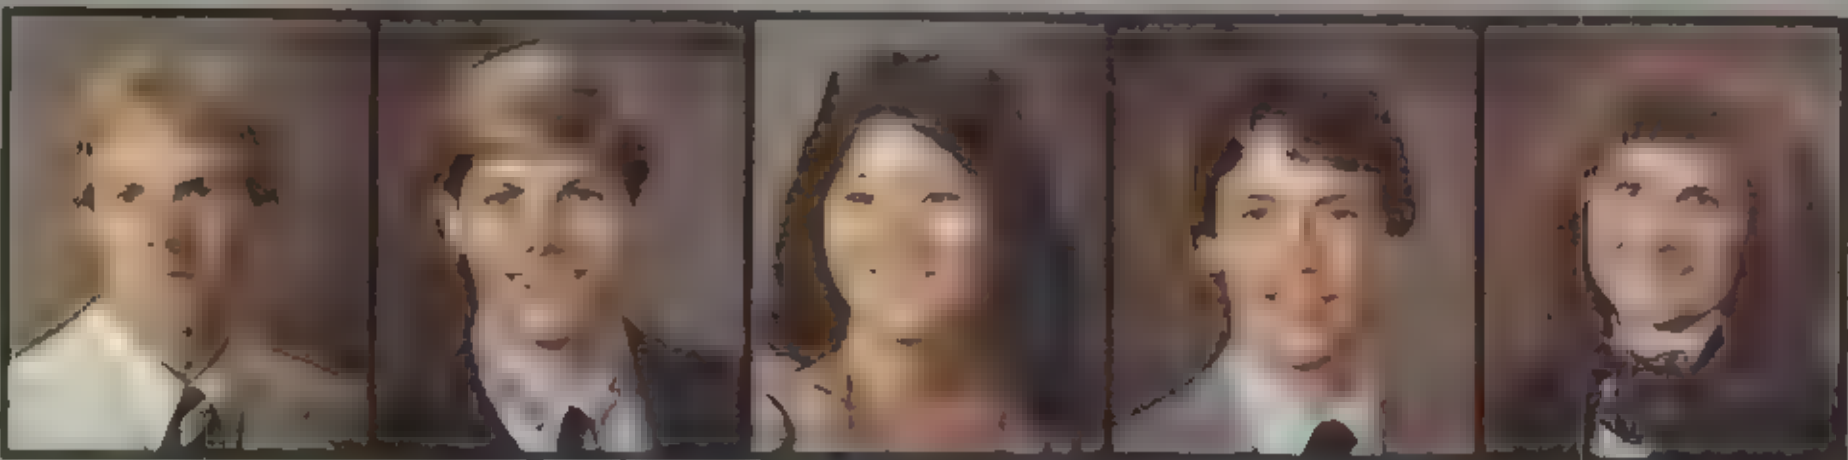

Blake Matthew's horses were like his best friends. He trained one, Moon, to pull a buggy one summer in Kaysville. Other items on the prize winners list are skiing and eating chocolate pie (at the same time?).

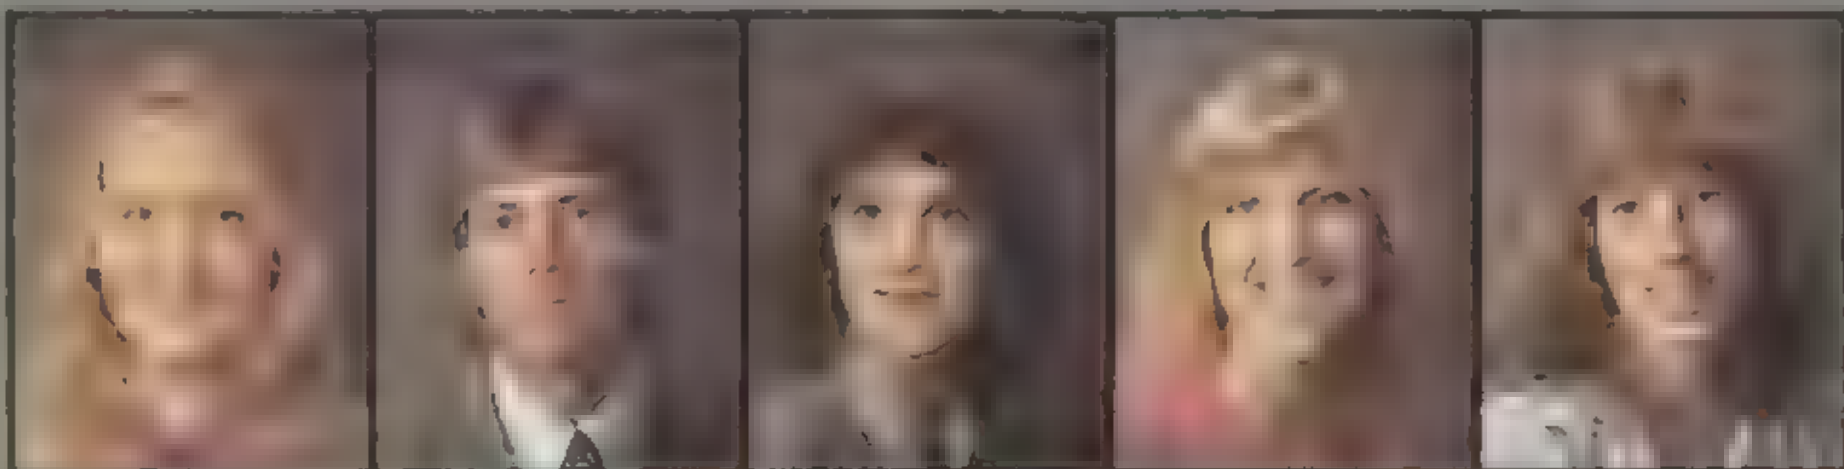

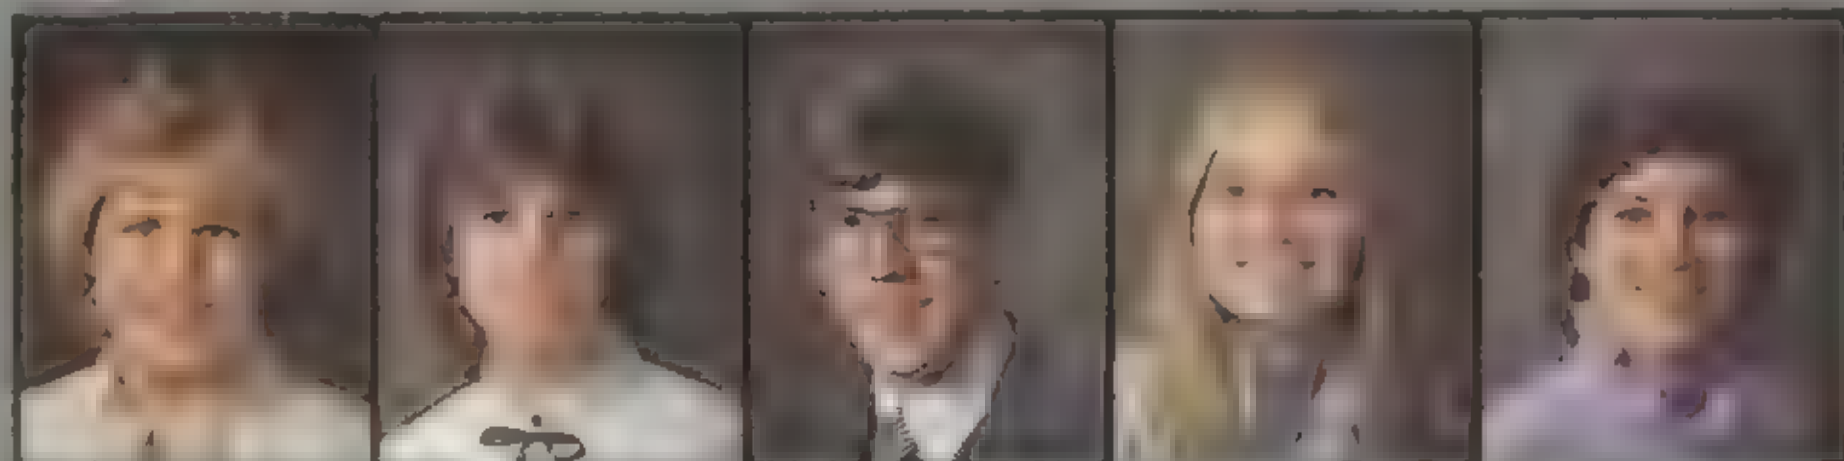

Kim and Val posed for modeling school.

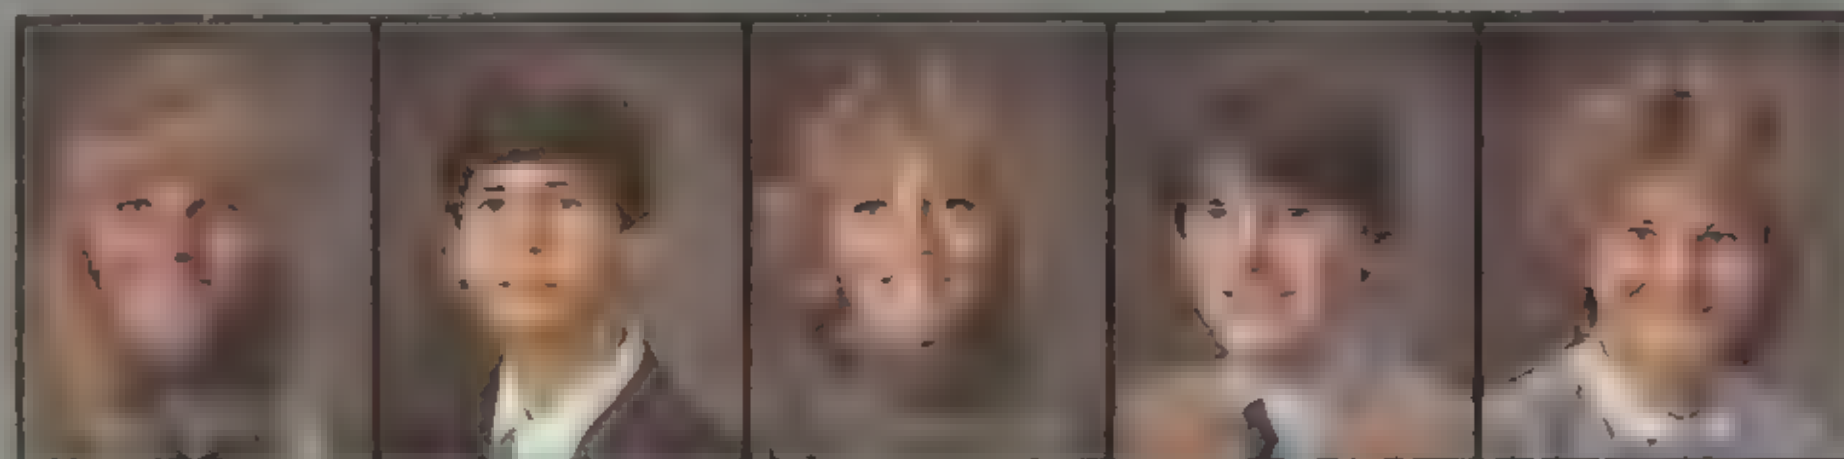

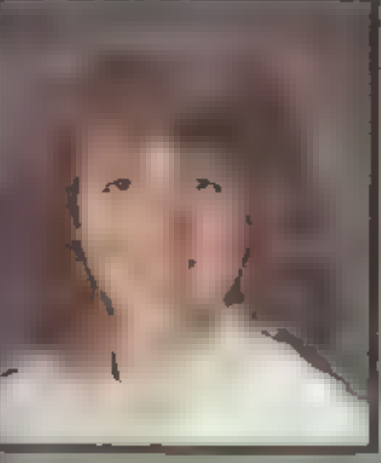

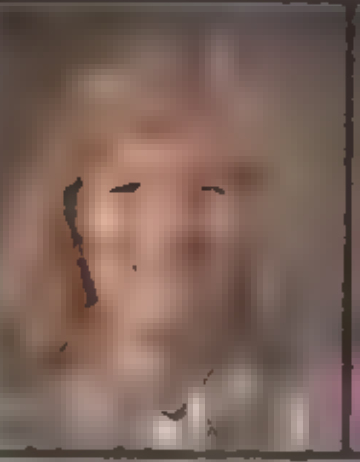

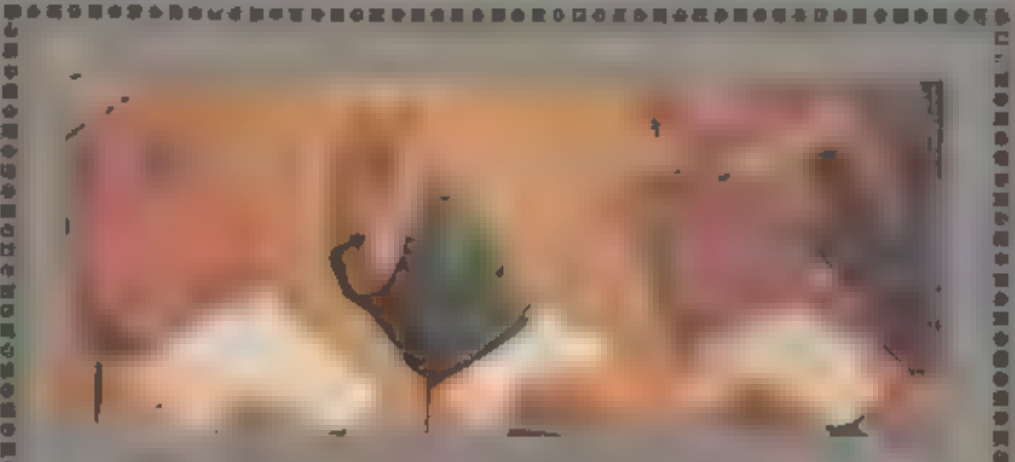

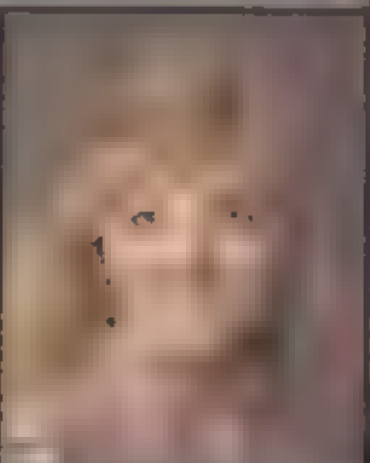

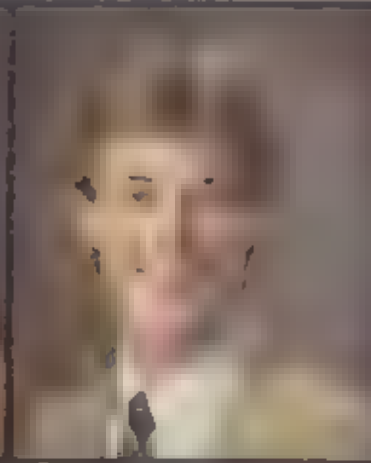

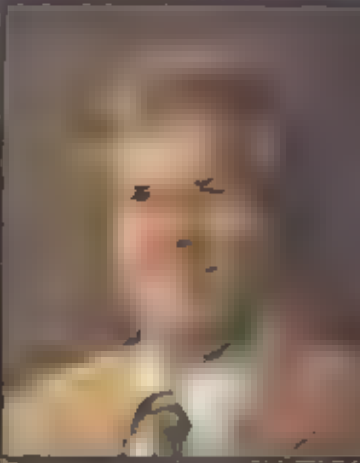

The Strong, The Proud, THE SENIORS

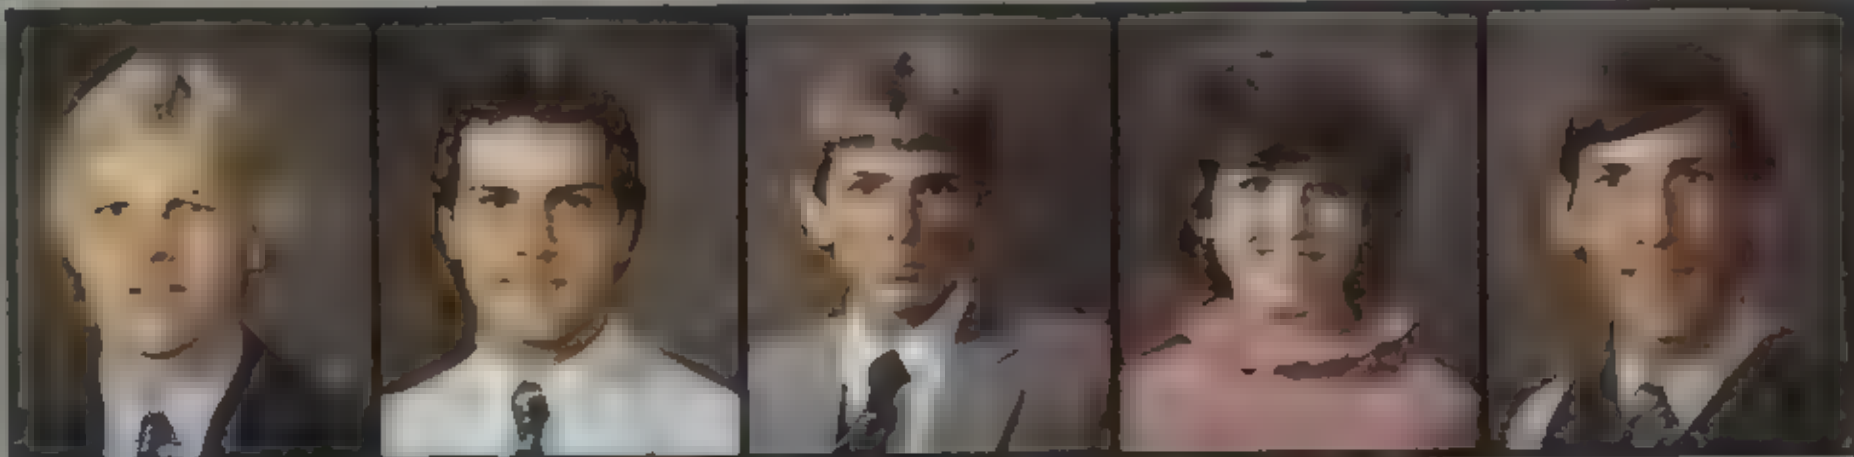

I think that my ultimate challenge in life is to achieve perpetual life and enter the superlative degree of existence in the life hereafter."

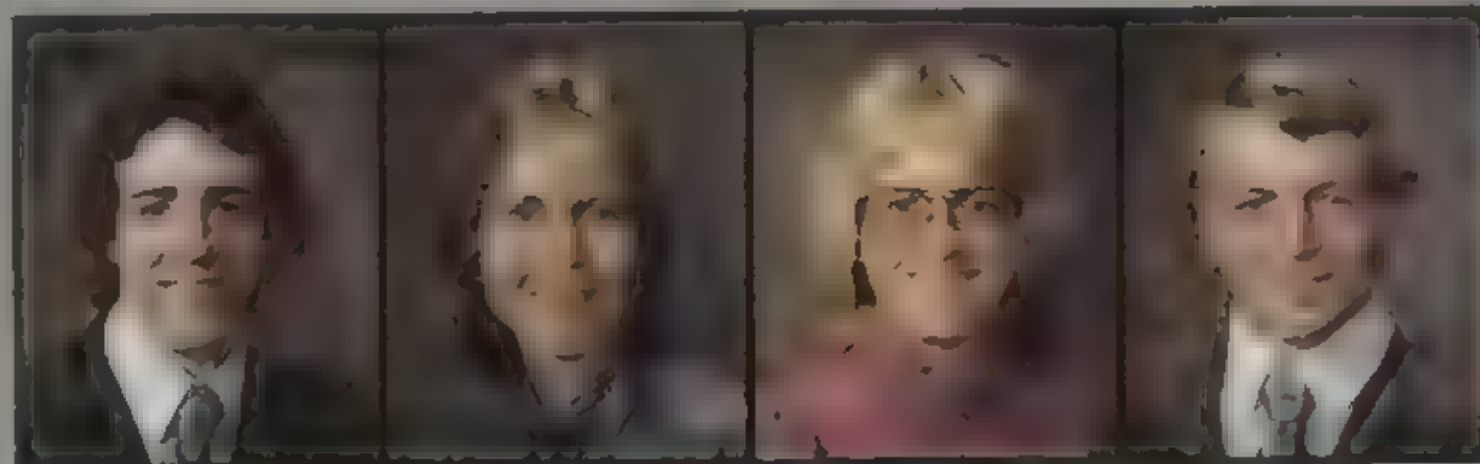

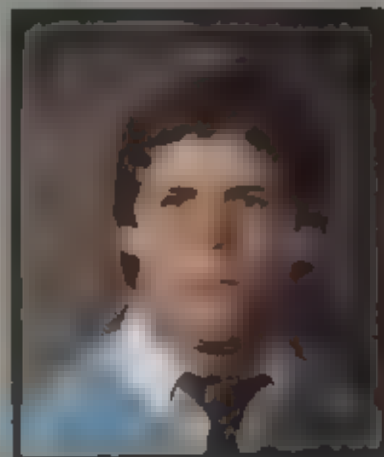

Senior Secretary Stan Moulton spent much of his time outdoors waterskiing and playing football. He still made room for culture and loved gourmet food Although Rodney Bills acted more like Goofy, his real idol was Mickey Mouse. Wearing his Mickey Mouse T-shirt, tie, and watch, he could be found perched in front of the TV watching the Wonderful World of Disney. Believe it or not, Rodney did take football and playing the saxophone seriously.

Sophomores had a year of growth and changes. Many of them suddenly became menaces to the road after passing Coach MacKay's Driver's Education course. After waiting years to be old enough to date, others found that the guys no longer asked them out or the girls had lost interest. Having survived the teasing of their freshman year, the Sophomores moved into a year of more challenging classes. Among them were U.S. History classes and enriched English. Coach Kuhlman's health class also proved to be an interesting experience. Some students stuck with less academic classes such as dance and type, but still learned a lot. Even with tougher schedules, the sophomores found that many upper classmen still considered them to be over-grown freshmen. The graduating class of '85 met their challenges head on.

Talon Editors 1983

Talon editors of 1983: Gary McKellar, Nancy Heckmann, Regina Nelson, Lisa Johansen, and Janet Ulrich.

The theme "Take the Timpview Challenge" held strong as the Talon Staff took the challenge of making this the best yearbook ever. We, the editors, spent a weekend of our summer at Weber State learning the fundamentals of organizing a staff and a yearbook and also of a special lead-in diet food which included Universal Sauce. The remainder of the summer was spent preparing ourselves and a staff of 27 students for what lay ahead.

First lead-in came suddenly with some of the staff lost in what was to be done and others having swearing sessions and practicing their thrust. With everything from hate lists to hickies, the staff proved they were the best by meeting the first deadline of 72 pages the November first on October fifteenth with a total of 107 pages.

Miss Peterson left for China after the first deadline leaving us to prepare for second deadline. With the help of Barbara Hoya, and the Lint, Papering Committee (which provided 12 rolls of toilet paper to Miss Peterson's house, the lead-in was met and Miss Peterson came home satisfied with the work which had been done.

It was also during this deadline that a trip to Visalia, California became a goal in order to provide the A Line Queen with a tan. Phil, Sean, Roberto, Randy and Richard Simmons became popular, the love list replaced the hate list and umbrellas paid no part, and our made this deadline complete.

A Christmas party at Miss Peterson's house with an excellent turkey dinner, movies, puppy dog jokes, and gifts, which ranged from a whoope cushion to a Six Million Dollar Man Christmas album, proved to be an excellent way to wrap up 1982.

Third and fourth deadline both fell open us in January. Third deadline proved to be a week of a staff and a staff which was no different. It was during January that the true pressures of a deadline were felt. Recovery was spent at a DJ party where pizza and Poltergeist were enjoyed. The party ended with some of the staff trying to get home alone in the dark others at BYU showing off their new cheap outfits, and others lost and out of gas.

The fifth and final deadline began with a pleasantly jovial visit from Bill, who was quoted as saying "I said I'd give you the supplement free if you made every deadline, but I didn't think you could do it."

Pleased with our performances thus far, we went into the final deadline with a determination to meet it with unmatched perfection, and in spite of bee stings and romances, we finished the book in style.

We have had a lot of fun on the staff this year, but there is no way to measure all the work which has been done. Photographers spent their nights in the darkroom printing photos, and everyone else spent their days in the classroom working with articles and copy. Come March our sleeping hours changed from four hours a night to the regular time, and our spring was spent recuperating from the events of the past nine months. The Talon Supplement, which was won by the talent and excellence of the staff, was also prepared at this time and was the first ever at Timpview. We would like to extend a special thanks to all those who made this book possible.

this is the best yearbook staff ever at Timpview. — Linda Peterson, Talon Advisor

To get personal items without getting stung
 To learn to laugh and/or scream like a real person
 To find a pair of matching socks
 To keep "Queen Albino" title
 Janet's challenge was challenges
 To make it through the day without a cup
 To keep Allison out of the darkroom
 To stay away from the janitors.
 To keep everyone up with Richard Simmons.
 To keep track of her keys.
 To write a running head instead of "running head."
 To keep from getting lost and keep a full tank of gas
 To learn how to speak unnecessarily
 To keep the room clean
 To learn how to act like a freshman
 To get enough nominees for the Talon Tally
 To give a real hickie
 To make it to class.
 To supply the staff with enough food
 To get a real hickie
 To graduate from Jeanne's school
 To learn before it was over
 To be pleasantly jovial twenty-four hours a day
 To be nice to George
 To officially write a caption.
 To remember her Jr. Class office title
 To keep up with the neighbor's gossip.
 To make her own layouts without George's help.
 To learn how to assign photos
 To find all the prep sheets
 To draw something that is not punk.
 To make a round circle
 "Oh, was he on the staff?"

Special thanks to all those parents who put up with yearbook and all the time it took, and also to those teachers who helped by letting students out of class to work on the book

FAMILY FUN CENTER

New England Life. The only company with all the tools.

It's that simple. And that comprehensive. New England Life today offers a diversity of products and services unique to the industry.

- Business and personal life insurance with unsurpassed benefits and guarantees
- A variety of mutual funds and annuities
- Pension policies that include the industry's first adjustable pension contract
- Complete equity services backed by nearly 15 years of equity experience
- A Cash Management Trust worth over $1 billion
- A full range of group life and health products, including medical, life, dental, and vision plans
- Tax advantaged investment products
- A growing family of financial service subsidiaries
- One of the best income protection plans in the disability insurance market
- A telecommunications network that provides instantaneous policyholder service
- Real Estate Investment Advisory Services
- Fully computerized regional pension service nationwide
- A Master Service Account that consolidates and simplifies payment for various New England Life financial services

And the list doesn't end there. We offer faster, more accurate group claim service. We have more individual pension policies in force than anyone else in the industry. And we've recently added policy amendments that have dramatically increased policyholder coverage with no increase in premium.

STUDENT AID.

It takes more than brains to go to college. It takes money. For tuition, room and board, and books.

The Army College Fund is designed to help you get that money for college while serving your country.

If you qualify, you can join the Army College Fund when you join the Army. For every dollar you put in, Uncle Sam puts in five. Or more.

So, after just two years in the Army, you can have up to $15,200 for college. After three years, up to $20,100.

To get your free copy of the Army College Fund booklet, call or visit your local Army Recruiter. It could be the most important book you've ever read.

ARMY. BE ALL YOU CAN BE.

Ron watched for the ball

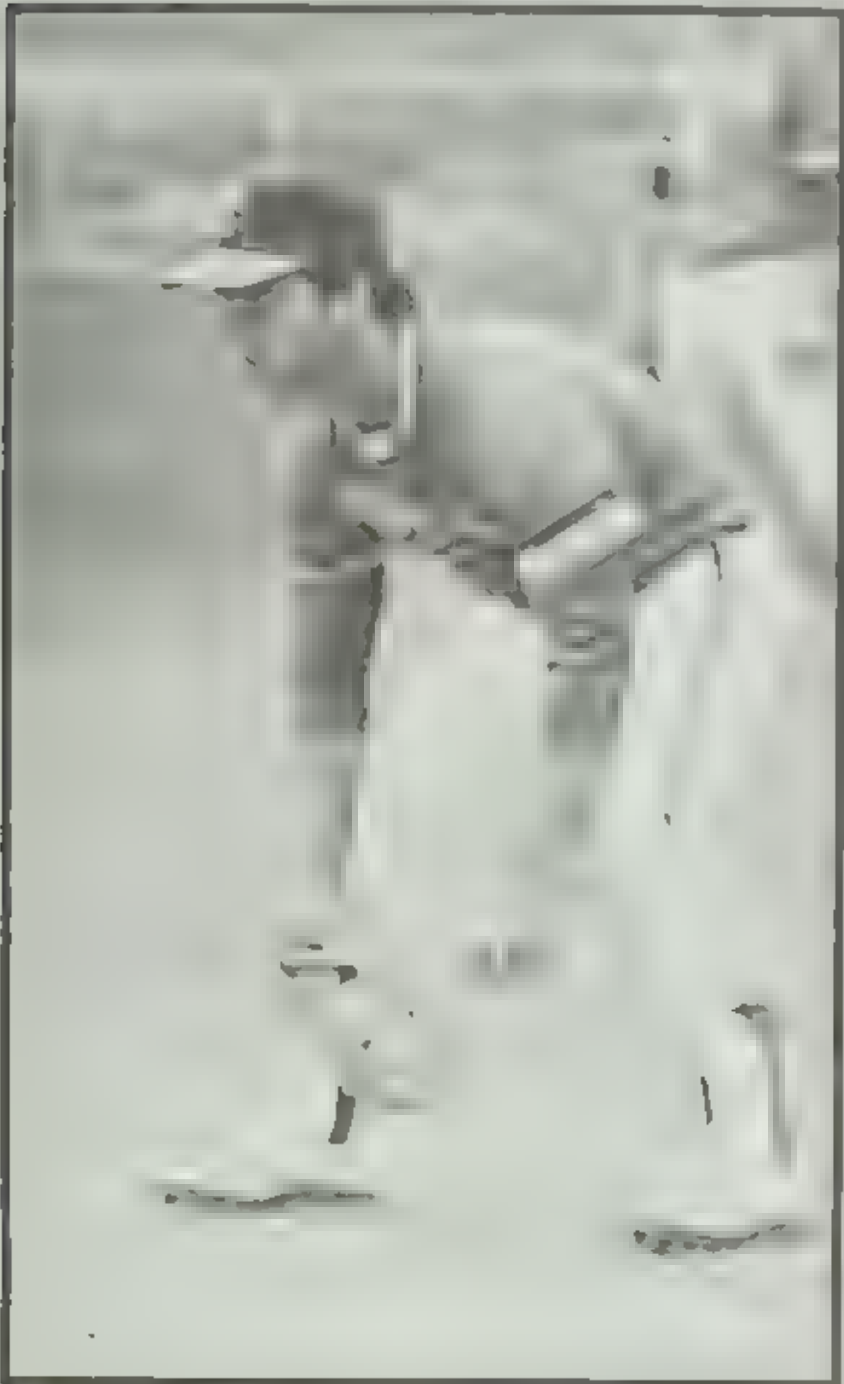

The baseball team worked many long, hard hours for several months to prepare for their tough season. To start everything off, they went down to Las Vegas for a short vacation and reappeared with great tans. They had those of us who were not on the team wondering if they wanted to be on the team for the sport of it or for the annual trip to Las Vegas. They not only looked good in school, but they looked great on the field. The T-birds had a really tough season, but it was not totally unsuccessful. They gave it their best shot all the way to the end of the season.

"Rained Out" was a very common phrase heard by the boys' tennis team this year. The rain delayed and cancelled so many matches, that the team thought they would never get to finish their season. Playing first singles was Will Sperry, while Rob Folsom and Paul Sagers played second and third singles. Freshmen, Jon Pierpont and David Reeves played first doubles, and sophomores, Chuck O'Brien and Keith Sperry played second doubles.

1. The pole vault is a track and field event in which the athlete uses a long, thin pole to propel themselves over a bar. The pole is held in one hand and the athlete runs with it, planting it in the ground and using it to launch themselves into the air. The pole is made of a material that is flexible and strong, allowing it to bend and then snap back into shape. The athlete's body is in a horizontal position as they clear the bar, and they land in a pit of soft material.

Everyone knew that the Junior Prom was going to be spectacular when they saw the decorations being put up three days before hand, and they were not disappointed. The theme, "Run for the Roses", was quite obvious because there were roses everywhere. The gorgeous decorations blended well with all the girls' (and Tom call's) dresses while the boys' tuxedos made them look handsome. The promenade through a rose-horseshoe was started off by Jill Maxwell and Marlin Christiansen, queen and king of the Prom.

Mark was pleased with his partner.

The graduating class of 1983 ended their final year in grand style with the annual Senior Dinner Dance at the Hotel Utah. After dining on cheesecake and chicken cordon blue, the seniors watched a slide show prepared by Steve Kingsolver while Eric Linebarger stunned the audience with his background music. Later, as they swung to the music of "Light Year," the soon-to-be graduates felt nostalgic while dancing to the evening's theme song "We May Never Pass This Way Again."

The atmosphere created at the Hotel Utah was so wonderful that no one could deny it made for an excellent date. In fact, it ranked as one of the top three dates of my dating career."

That was good stuff, Maynard."—Jeanne Baird, commenting on the Senior Dinner Dance menu

STARS ASSEMBLY

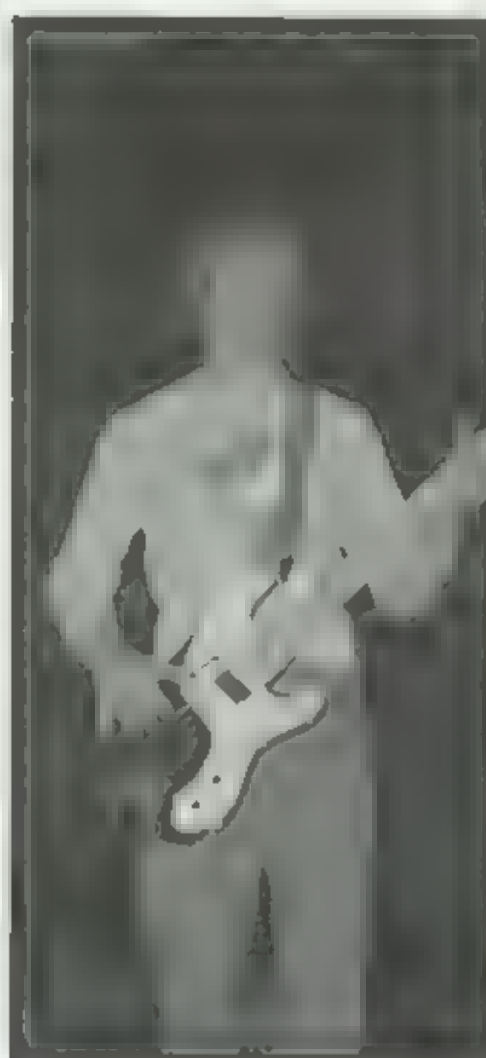

The Werners backed up

The Stars Assembly was another smash this year. With an auditorium full of spectators, the performers were able to do their part without a mistake. Taking part in this show were Ralph Barnes and band, Dave West and his jazz band and many other talented people. All who were in attendance really enjoyed it.
